

BALL IN THE MUD

Star Team Gives Up in Fourth Inning.

REGIMENT TOO FAR AHEAD

Too Much Grumbling to Suit the Audience.

Regiment Team Did Good Work Stars Were Not in the Game.

Things didn't look fair for a ball game on Saturday, and it was not until half-past 1 that the Star team consented to go to the grounds. The rain for the past two or three days had played ducks and drakes with the ground. The Regiment team was out early, and Moore, Kiley and Gorman turned to, with the assistance of some small boys, and spread rice hulls around the bases and along the lines. Twenty minutes after Captain Wilder, with a don't-want-to-play expression on his face, stuck the toe of his shoe in the ground around the home plate, after which he confabbed with Pitcher Hart for a few minutes. No attempt was made to put the Star team in the field for practice, though the Regiment team was called off, in order that the Stars could have a whack. To the 50 odd people in the grand stand it looked as though there would be no game. Gorman, Wilder, Coyne and Carter consulted for a few minutes, and then the Stars, at half-past 3 o'clock, began their practice. The high was on the share of receipts to go to the clubs, and when it was decided that the winners would take 25 per cent of the proceeds and the losers nothing, it looked as though everything was settled.

Bowers was first to bat, and took his base on balls; then he tried to steal second but the mud let him down and out. Moore took first on balls and Luahiwa tapped to left for one and sent Moore to second. Kiley hit the ball to center field for a two bagger. Moore came home and Luahiwa stopped at third, then came home on a passed ball. Gorman made first on a hit and fumble at short. Kaanohi sent a high ball over third for a two bagger, bringing Kiley home in a canter. Davis flew out to center and Duncan hit to short. Lishman pulled down neatly but made a wild throw to Cunha at first. Two men came home. Duncan was left at third, when Three Star Hennessy went out at first. On the strength of two hits and three errors the Regiment retired with a total of five runs.

Wilder sent a ball straight to Hennessy but it required a jump on the part of the latter to stop it. Wilder quit at first. Hart hit to Bowers at third and went out at first. Cunha hit to Kaanohi at short and went out at first. This goose egg for the Stars seemed to make the mud deeper around the bases, but the Regiment team didn't mind it a little bit. There is plenty of mud around the mission and the boys are used to it.

Bowers went to bat full of hope but he struck out just the same. Then Moore sent the ball to Lishman and made first. Luahiwa hit to short and forced Moore to second, but Mañuka had the ball there before him. Kiley sent the ball to center but there was a man under it and the side went out without a tally.

Mañuka made first on a muff by Kaanohi, but went out trying to steal second. Lishman sent the ball out Duncan's way and made first and Pryce took first on balls. Harry Wilder ran for him and stepped two feet from the base ready to start for second. Gorman saw his opportunity, sent the ball to Davis and the runner was out before he knew it. Lishman tried to make third but the ball was in Bower's hand first and Lishman tried to slide. His head struck Bower's knee and was knocked out in consequence. He did not come to himself for several minutes. Another inning without a tally and things looked blue.

Gorman took the stick first, and with a determination to do something, he hit past third base and got to first. Kaanohi hit to short for one, and in the jumble Gorman got to third. Davis flew out to Mañuka at second, and Duncan's hit to left field over Lishman's head brought Gorman home and took Kaanohi to third. Hennessy hit safe for a base, bringing Kaanohi home, but in stealing second he was put out. The score was 7 to a goose egg, and it looked as though a heavy track was against the Stars and suitable to the Regiment team.

In the last half of the inning, the rain came down in a drizzle and made it difficult to hold the ball. Hennessy threw in all directions, until Ross went to first on balls. Just here came the play of the day. Koki hit a fly between short and left, and Kaanohi ran sideways, catching him out and throwing to Davis at first, after Ross had gone half way to second. A neat bit of jugglery between Davis and Moore settled Ross and Wilder went out at first.

Bower struck out and Moore went to first on balls. Hart struck Luahiwa with the ball and Umphrey Whitney gave him first. Kiley sent the ball down to center field for a base and Moore came home. Gorman hit to center, and neat fielding by the Stars put Kiley out. Kaanohi sent a splendid one down to center, and didn't stop running until he got to second. Luahiwa and Gorman came home. Davis met his usual bad luck, and flew out to center field. Three runs to the list and the score 10 to 0.

The rain came down again for a few minutes, and Hennessy sent the ball so far over Hart and Cunha's heads that they were given bases on balls. Mañuka made a hit and Hart came home. Mañuka went out at first, and by a double play Cunha went out at third. Then game was called. Umphrey Whitney stating that it was impossible for Hennessy to control the ball. He would wait a few minutes, and unless it stopped raining he would stop the game. It ceased at the end of about seven minutes. The Regiment went back to their places on the call of game by the umpire, and after several balls had been sent over the plate without a batter being in position, Captain Wilder ran out of the dressing room and had a moment's conversation with the umpire. He referred to the book on rules, and Wilder walked away amid the shouts of "Play ball" from the people in the stand.

"I will give him one minute to put a man at the box," shouted the umpire, and then Wilder shouted back: "They can have the game. We give it to them."

Some people were uncharitable enough to say that if the Stars had four or five runs they would have continued the game, but there were others who did not think they would have been reversed. The general opinion is, however, that the Star Club had better call a meeting and elect Percy Lishman, who never loses his head, captain of the team.

HONOLULU EXPORTS.

Some Interesting Facts and Figures About Them.

To those interested in the shipments of various island products from the port of Honolulu for the months of April and May, the shipments of sugar for the past five months and facts relating thereto, the following might prove interesting:

SHIPMENTS FOR APRIL, 1897.

April—43,282,596 lbs. sugar valued at $1,306,287.78; 310,000 lbs. rice valued at $12,529.00; 22,670 lbs. coffee valued at $4,660.00; 6,510 bunches bananas valued at $6,508.00; 92,301 lbs. hides valued at $6,712.00; 545 goat skins valued at $288.00; 870 sheep skins valued at $165.00; sundries, $84.00. Waiawa School.

The Waiawa school held its closing exercises yesterday with an attendance of about 125 pupils before a large audience of parents and friends, including Rev. H. W. Peck and others from the Peninsula and Honolulu. No regular programme was followed the idea being to exhibit the genuine work of a school day and intersperse this with songs and recitations. The lower classes under the Misses S. and U. Smith, showed some excellent work and gave some thoroughly fine specimens of kindergarten songs. Following this was the work of Mr. V. Smith's classes, with recitations and class songs. Then Mr. J. W. Smith, the principal, exhibited the work of the third and fourth classes, in good style. Better work cannot be found even in Honolulu schools; the work in arithmetic, fractions, percentage and interest, being beyond the average in difficulty. In geography and grammar the work was equally good, maps of Europe being drawn on the blackboard by each pupil in the class before the audience, and then explained in concert. The fine choral singing of the school was again noted as unexcelled on this island. Equally remarkable was the correct English and clear elocution of the pupil. Mr. J. W. Smith and his assistants are to be congratulated on having done a good year's work and given a genuine exhibition of real worth as was indicated by the Revs. Peck and Ezra in speeches at the close of the day's work.
